

Happy Aging Magazine

ISSN 2156-6232; www.danieldomes.com; office@danieldomes.com

“Happy Aging” magazine is issued by DANIEL DOMES Quality Aging Environment, LLC. It will first target readers from the Dallas Fort Worth Metroplex and has the goal of becoming a national and international publication.

The magazine focuses on aging and society and is for seniors, their families and friends, professionals, and policymakers. It shows how the latest research in gerontology can be applied to improve various aspects of seniors’ lives, and their relationships with relatives, friends and service providers. It explores the emotional, physical and spiritual aspects of daily life in old age and the need for innovation and improvement in providing care for seniors.

Aging services providers will be advertising on the pages of the magazine, which will provide needed information to an aging population and, most importantly – will focus on a low cost of publishing and maintaining an affordable price for elderly readers.

The magazine has an ISSN (International Standard Serial Number), the advantage of which is accurate citing of articles by scholars, researchers, abstracters, and librarians: ISSN 2156-6232
